MEMBERSHIP FAQs

Is Membership required when I buy a home at Encanterra®?

The Community Association has acquired membership rights for all who buy a home in the community. Members of the Community Association become sub-members (sometimes called “Social” Members) of the Club.

I haven’t seen this structure in a community before - why is it set up this way?

We set up Encanterra differently because we’ve learned from other communities that separating HOA functions from Club operations ensures the resort lifestyle is delivered well beyond the involvement of the homebuilder.

I’ve heard references to both a “Social” and “Community” membership - is there a difference?

As it relates to the technical club structure there is a difference between the two. However, in practice these two member categories are used interchangeably to describe privileges and access. Further detail is available in the Membership Plan.

If I sell my home what happens to the Membership?

Depending on your Membership type, you will have the option of either maintaining your Membership or resigning from the Club and receiving your refund.

Can Members be assessed to cover any Club operating deficits or club capital improvements?

No, operating shortfalls and capital improvements are paid for by the Club owner.

Is the Initiation Fee on Memberships refundable?

Upon resignation, Golf Members are eligible to be refunded 80% of the current initiation fee of their Membership category up to 100% of what was originally paid. Community memberships are refundable at 80% of what was originally paid.

Are guests allowed at the Club?

The restaurants and spa are always open to guests of Members, and other areas may require guest fees. These areas include the resort pool, athletic club, tennis courts, and of course, golf. Golf guest fees are available above.
